On Record Breaking Equity Volume Day in May 35% of Stocks Would Have Triggered Short Selling Restrictions

New York, May 14, 2010 – Statistics compiled by Jordan & Jordan’s Execution Analytics and Compliance Solution (ECS) following the record-breaking equity quote volume on May 6th, 2010, indicate that 35% of stocks traded on this day would have triggered the short sale rule circuit breaker.

Of the 7,767 eligible stocks that were traded, 2,755 experienced a price drop of 10% or more from the previous day’s close. The 10% threshold is a critical component of the Alternative Uptick Rule that goes into effect beginning November 2010 to prohibit short selling at or below the National Best Bid until the close of the following trading day.

Although the drop on May 6th did not reach the market-wide thresholds to halt general trading, there is discussion among regulators and exchanges to establish a consistent threshold across exchanges that would apply to specific stocks. In the event of a significant price drop in a specific stock, a circuit breaker would be triggered on all exchanges where that stock is traded, similar to that being implemented for short sales. The file below represents the stocks that would have been affected if a market-wide circuit breaker had been instituted for any stock dropping 10% from the previous day’s close.

Jordan & Jordan’s ECS product tracks price performance and volume for equities across all market centers to provide analysis for compliance with Regulation NMS Rule 611, NBBO Best Execution and SEC Rule 606. Data collected by the system provided statistics and analysis on Thursday’s record-breaking volume broken down by stock and execution center.
